

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

5 A system (10), probe, and method for collecting a plurality of diagnostic information and transmitting the diagnostic information to a remote location. The system (10) comprises a member (12) contoured to at least a portion of a person's hand, and an interface unit (20) in electrical communication with the member (12). The interface unit (20) is capable of transmitting information to a remote location. The member (12) comprises at least eight sensors.